The protection of your personal data is very important to us. Therefore we process your data exclusively according to the legal regulations (DSGVO, TKG 2003). In this privacy policy we inform you about the most important aspects of data processing within our website.

Getting in contact

If you contact us via the email address on the website, your data will be stored for six months. This enables us to process the request and efficiently respond should follow-up questions arise. We will not share this information without your consent and take appropriate security measures to safeguard your personal information from unauthorised access.

Cookies

Our website uses so-called cookies. These are small text files that are stored on your device using the browser. They do no harm. We use cookies to make our website user-friendly and allow us to recognise your browser the next time you visit. Some cookies remain stored on your device until you delete them.

If you would not like this, you can reset your browser so that it informs you about your cookie settings and gives you the choice to only allow this in individual cases. Disabling cookies may limit the functionality of our website.

Your rights

You have the right of information, correction, deletion, restriction, data portability, revocation and opposition. If you believe that the processing of your data violates the data protection law or if your data protection claims have been infringed in any other way, you can complain to the supervisory authority.
